Ma'am,

Officer Gabbert's replacement is Lt Todd Barrett. His email is Todd.Barrett@us.af.mil. I will also forward this email to him and our leadership to ensure they are aware of the deregistration.

Thank you,
SSgt Alyssa Rade

Good morning,

Thank you for being so helpful. He is the email I sent to Gabbert regarding the Intoxilyzer. We just want to be sure someone knows it cannot be used for evidential use. If you would, please send me the name of the person we should contact going forward.

Thank you again,

Subject: Deregistered Intoxilyzer

Good afternoon,

Attached is a pdf of a letter that should be in the mail headed your way. In a nutshell, Intoxilyzer 80-001866 which was registered to MacDill AFB has been DEREGISTERED (VOIDED) is no longer a registered evidential Intoxilyzer in the state of Florida. Your agency owns the instrument and is free to use it as a trainer, loan it to other agencies for training, etc, but it CANNOT be used in an evidential capacity unless it is reregistered. Please hang onto the registration and associated documents for 3 years after yesterday's date (09/28/2016) as is required by FL Administrative Code 11D-8.

Please reach out to us if you need anything in the future. Thank you for working with me on this.

Good morning Brett,

Per the long string of emails below, please DEREGISTER Intoxilyzer Instrument # 80-001866 which is currently registered MacDill Air Force Base. They do not currently have any BTOs or AIs and the previous AI has indicated that the current Commanding Officer would like to deregister the Intoxilyzer which has not been in use since 2013 or so (with the exception of the annual inspections.)

Thank you!

We can definitely do that. 3 options:

1. If you'll ship it to me, I can disable it (and prevent unauthorized usage.) I can also deregister it at that time.
2. You can keep it there and I'll simply deregister it. It would then be up to you/your agency to ensure it isn't used as an evidential instrument.
3. We can continue our annual exercise in inspecting an instrument not in use and everything can remain as is (so long as I inspect it once each year.)

Any of these work for me. Thank you for working on this.

I think keeping it and deregistering it would be a good route, since another commander could come in and want us to have an intoxilyzer.

You have several options. It belongs to your agency. As long as it is sold within Florida, it can be sold or given to any law enforcement agency in Florida. You would send it to me and I would do the software side of the transfer and reregister it to that agency. Your agency can keep it indefinitely but send it to me and I'll disable it, deregister it, and send it back. Those are the best 2 options. Others include the trash and other states but it would need to be hard wiped first (software.)

Let me know what they would like to do.

Thanks,

Danielle
