

CAN A SEXUAL OFFENDER OR PREDATOR LIVE NEAR CHILDREN?

There is no state-level registration law preventing a sexual offender or predator released from Florida Department of Corrections supervision from being or residing near a school, bus stop, playground, day care, etc.

Individuals convicted of certain sexual crimes cannot reside within 1,000 feet of any school, day care center, park or playground as stated in 775.215 Florida Statute.

Residential restrictions may exist as a city or county ordinance in your area. Contact your local sheriff's office for additional information.

To learn more about a specific offender or predator under supervision, contact the Florida Department of Corrections directly.

The FDLE Bureau of Offender Registry Services maintains the Florida Sexual Offender and Predator Public Registry. Available 24/7 at offender.fdle.state.fl.us, the registry contains public information about sexual offenders and predators in Florida.

Learn if you live, work or play near a sexual offender or predator. The registry also provides information on Florida registration laws and links to registries in other states.

In Florida, sexual offenders and predators have a lifetime registration requirement. Home and work addresses, vehicles, email addresses and Internet identifiers must be registered. Contact your local sheriff's office to report non-compliance.
